

It is my opinion that the requirements for obtaining an amateur license are too easy. So I am against anything that will reduce the current very meager 5 wpm requirement. Anyone that will not take the time to learn 5 wpm, doesn't want a license very much. I think we need better amateurs, not just more of them.